Vol. 14, No. 2, February 2026

A Farewell from Our Editor

Since January 2022 I have had the great privilege to edit the APG eNews, working with a wonderful team to bring you the latest genealogy profession news each month. I've worked with four APG presidents, two executive directors, and an untold number of chapter and special interest group heads, committee members, as well as fellow APG team members. With a new president and board in place for 2026, and an increasing growth in membership (particularly internationally), the APG has never been in better health.

It has been wonderful to help play a small part in the APG team over the last four years, and to work full-time as a genealogist over the last twenty years (twenty years this month!), but it's time for me to shake things up a little and pursue some new challenges.

For some time, I have been juggling my genealogy work with attempts to achieve a level of fluency with Scotland's indigenous Scottish Gaelic language, which is under a serious threat of extinction thanks to decades and centuries of discrimination. The 2022 census has for the first time since 1891 shown a turnaround in the language's fortunes, thanks to recent revival efforts following the reconvening of the Scottish Parliament in 1999, and I am hoping to try to get more involved in this. As such, I have just applied to do a Gaelic medium primary school teaching course, which if successful, will mean lots of hoops to get through this year in preparation, but as my auld ma' used to say, "God loves a trier"!

I have now stepped down as editor of the eNews, although I will continue as a member of APG and keep working as a genealogist for the foreseeable future, and I am especially looking forward to meeting a few of you in Glasgow in a few months' time at the APG Professional Genealogical Symposium!

As the outgoing editor I would like to take this opportunity to thank you all for your contributions over the last four years, to wish APG Communications Manager Allison Beard well in her new role as incoming editor, and to wish you all the very best with your own endeavours and challenges to come.

I'll leave you with one of my favourite Scottish Gaelic sayings: Thig crìoch air an t-saoghal, ach mairidh gaol is ceòl—The world will end, but love and music will endure.

Tìoraidh an-dràsta / Bye for now!

Chris

Stephanie O'Connell Named Recipient of 2026 APG Fellowship

Stephanie O'Connell, CG® of Seattle, Washington, USA (pictured below) has been selected as the recipient of the 2026 Association of Professional Genealogists (APG) Fellowship with her proposal "Recovering Irish Women in the Records."

A researcher, writer, and educator, O'Connell is a frequent speaker at genealogy conferences in the United States. She serves as Director of Education for the Seattle Genealogical Society and is a ProGen Study Group Mentor.

O'Connell's professional work centers on Irish research, women's history, and advanced evidence analysis. Her proposal for the APG Fellowship aims to complete the development of an innovative methodological framework for reconstructing the lives of Irish women, the HER® method (Historicize, Expand, Reconstruct). O'Connell plans to apply the method to two case studies via a wide range of sources at local and national repositories in Ireland, visiting Dublin, Cork City, and Limerick in September and October 2026.

"Throughout my research, I have been drawn to reconstructing women's lives—especially in Ireland, where archival losses compound women's historical underrepresentation," said O'Connell. "This fellowship will allow me to further develop a methodological framework that helps genealogists recover not only women's identities, but their lived experiences."

Following the completion of the Fellowship, O'Connell intends to share her findings through presentations, publishing an article with APG, and a practitioner's guide.

For more information on the APG Fellowship, visit https://www.apgen.org/apg_awards_and_scholarships.php. Don't miss 2025 Fellowship winner Lisa Vogeles's article in the upcoming March 2026 issue of APG Quarterly, "Fellowship In Action: A Practical Guide for Success."

APG Activities at RootsTech 2026

APG is thrilled to be returning to RootsTech in person again this year as a society sponsor and is working hard to make this the best RootsTech yet! We always enjoy networking and meeting other APG members from around the world at our booth in the Expo Hall.

We have some brand new things planned for our booth at the Expo Hall, including an expanded booth space with an APG classroom space! Join us for exciting offerings, including answering your questions about the new APG Readiness Toolkit. We can't wait to tell you more about what's in store.

Will you be attending in-person from 5-7 March? If so, we want to see you! Take a look at the class schedule and then find a time to volunteer at the APG booth in the Expo Hall. Spending time in the booth is a fantastic way to learn more about APG, understand what clients are seeking, and network with your colleagues. Here is the link to select your shift(s): <https://www.signupgenius.com/go/10C054FADAE2BA5FDC16-61685105-rootstech>.

Come mingle with your fellow APG members for an APG member Meet Up after the close of the Expo Hall on Thursday, 5 March 2026. Location details will be available soon!

Finally, don't miss APG President Tricia Seguire and Board member Sarah Day, AG, at our sponsored session "From Client to Colleague: Understanding the World of Professional Genealogy" on Thursday, 5 March 2026, at 9:30 a.m. MST. They will take a closer look at the process of hiring a professional genealogist and will share practical insight into becoming a professional.

Are You Ready to Grow as a Genealogy Professional?

Get started with the new APG Professional Genealogist Readiness Tool

APG's Professional Genealogist Readiness Tool helps you understand where you are in your professional journey and provides ideas for where you might want to go next.

Whether you're just starting out, expanding your business, or stepping into a leadership role, this self-assessment is designed to help you reflect on your progress, identify your strengths, and discover areas for growth.

Indiana State Archives Seeking Input

The Indiana State Archives is trying to determine what days and hours they should be open when they move into their new downtown building later this year. After years of being located in a warehouse on the east side of the city, they are moving just across from the Indiana State Library and the Indiana Historical Society, creating a convenient "research corridor." Please take this four-minute survey to advise them on improving access for genealogists and researchers.

Your Stripped Bare Guide to Citing & Using History Sources By Elizabeth Shown Mills

- ☒ Do you love research but hate source citations?
- ☒ Do you cringe at the word evidence, because the dreaded citation police, somewhere, sometime, said your sources were not good enough?
- ☒ Do you doubt yourself when you think you have proof—especially when you have to build a case because there's no one document that cleanly answers your research question?

If so, this guide is your guide—stripped down to the bare essentials you need to know to do reliable history research. Thirteen guidelines for evidence analysis will help you select reliable sources and evaluate your findings. Thirteen guidelines for documentation will teach you the basic principles for identifying those sources. Then fourteen easy-to-follow templates provide you with patterns for citing any kind of history source, online, from any corner of the globe. Your angst is over!

Advertising and Sponsorship Update

Pamela Israel, APG's Advertising Sales Manager, has announced her departure from the role she has held since 2023. She has accepted an exciting full-time position combining her previous corporate and entrepreneurial experience, an opportunity that she couldn't resist. APG wishes Pam all the best in her new role.

Pam says that genealogy will never be far away from her, as she remains on the board of the Western Pennsylvania Genealogical Society and continues to help people with translating German genealogical documents.

All advertising and sponsorship questions can be sent to APG's new Advertising Sales Manager Amber Oldenburg at admgr@apgen.org.

Dialogues on Mental Health Records Presentation Series: Massachusetts' Special Commission on State Institution

The Dialogues on Mental Health Records (DMHR) project is a platform to address the challenges of managing historical public mental health records through a series of nationwide convenings. Operated by The University of Texas at Austin and supported by the Hogg Foundation for Mental Health, DMHR has launched a new monthly virtual series highlighting the work of state hospital preservation throughout the country. These presentations will include projects on state policy, community collaboratives and archives, state hospital museums and other preservation efforts.

The first of the series will be held on 18 February 2026 at 1:00 p.m. CT (US) and will feature a presentation by Alex Green and Kate Benson on Massachusetts' Special Commission on State Institutions. The Special Commission on State Institutions was responsible for studying and reporting on the history of state institutions for people with intellectual or developmental disabilities or mental health conditions in the Commonwealth.

Register for the presentation at https://utexas.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_82eGoabqWtmVzn0.

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR Michelle Dwyer Cohen

What's happening in APG's head office this month? A little bit of everything!

The Board is settling into their committee roles, meeting committee members, and discussing priorities for the coming year. They will produce a workplan that will be shared with the membership in the spring, as we have done for the past two years.

The Professional Development Committee has started off with a bang, hosting the Global Gathering on January 29th—I hope you were there to network with members, and show our non-member guests what makes APG such a great place to be. Mark your calendars now for upcoming webinars in the next few months as seen on our website calendar and on page 8 in this newsletter.

Our diligent Continuing Education committee has worked hard to help members meet the reporting deadline. If you have not reported, please hurry. Public-facing member profiles will be turned to members-only profiles if we don't see your report in the database. Maintaining this standard is a requirement of membership and is an important part of the public's faith in the APG brand.

Event and conference preparations are underway. APG will be at RootsTech in March (see page 4), Register of Qualified Genealogists in April, National Genealogical Society in May, and will host our first-ever joint event with the University of Strathclyde in June. We will need volunteers both virtually and in person for all of these—let us know if you would like to help by contacting me at admin@apgen.org. Our own Professional Management Conference (PMC) will be held virtually from 14-17 October 2026.

Our biggest change this month is documented in our headline stories—two of our contract team members are off to their next adventure and we will miss them both so very much. It has been such a pleasure to work with Chris Paton as eNews editor and with Pamela Israel as advertising sales manager. They have both contributed so much to APG's success in these last few years. Please welcome Allison Beard and Amber Oldenburg as they step into those roles respectively.

Committee Vacancies

Do you want to help develop content to support new members joining APG or those transitioning into the professional genealogy field from other careers? APG's On-Ramp Committee currently has a vacancy! If you wish to be considered for a role on this committee, please submit your application here.

Upcoming APG Professional Development Webinars

The first quarter of APG's 2026 professional development webinar series has several presentations you don't want to miss. Members can access recordings of these webinars and others in the APG Webinar Library. For all events, please visit <https://www.timeanddate.com> for worldwide time equivalents.

Polishing Your APG Member Profile

26 February 2026

4:00–5:00 p.m. ET

Presenter: Fiona Brooker

Ensure your profile on the APG website highlights the skills and experiences that meet potential client needs. Fiona Brooker (at right), chair of APG's Website Committee will start with an overview of how the directory reads your profile, and then we'll break into groups where we can work on individual profiles for members who are willing to share. Let us guide you through the process of perfecting your profile!

The Ethical Genealogist: Seeking Truth with Care, Context, and Compassion

26 March 2026

4:00–5:00 p.m. ET

Presenter: Gary L. Ball-Kilbourne, PhD, CG, CGL

Professional genealogists sometimes face situations requiring their discernment of what is right and ethical as they interact with clients and colleagues. Presenter Gary Ball-Kilbourne (at right) will provide principles and guidance for acting within such situations during this webinar. Participants can also submit questions in advance concerning ethical quandaries encountered in their genealogical work.

APG Professional Management Conference 2026 Update

APG will hold its annual Professional Management Conference (PMC) virtually from 14–17 October 2026. Since 1998, the PMC has provided excellence in business education for career genealogists and this year's conference will be no different.

When you attend APG's PMC, you can expect several information-packed days of sessions with experienced genealogists, industry experts, and other leaders in the genealogy community. Join us for in-depth explorations of topics like marketing, business management, speaker training, writing and publishing, client relationships, time management, DNA analysis, forensic genealogy, and technology.

Pricing information and registration will be available soon. Check www.apgen.org for the latest information.

The Call for Presentations will be opening shortly! The PMC Committee will be looking for diverse and creative presentations geared towards helping members stay informed about trends within the world of professional genealogy and helping them to grow their business.

Looking to reach genealogy professionals with your company's products and services? Contact Sponsorship Manager Amber Oldenburg at admgr@apgen.org for more information.

In Memoriam

Jeanne Larzalere Bloom, CG

APG is sorry to report the passing of longtime member Jeanne Larzalere Bloom, CG, on 4 January 2026 in Chicago, IL, USA. An author, lecturer, and mentor to many, Jeanne was well-known in the Chicago genealogy community and beyond. She served as President of the Board for Certification of Genealogists from 2014-2018.

Jeanne's areas of expertise included forensic genealogy and multigenerational family histories, and she spent much of her time searching for and identifying family members of unaccounted-for servicemen. She worked for the Repatriation and Family Affairs Division of the Army Casualty and Memorial Affairs Operation to aid in the possible identification of soldiers from World Wars I and II, the Korean War, and the Vietnam War. As a former trained and certified Confidential Intermediary for the State of Illinois, Jeanne was court appointed to locate sought-after relatives for adoptees, adoptive parents, birth parents, and other birth relatives.

Staying Out of Trouble—The Rights and Responsibilities of Today's Genealogists

Presenter: Judy G. Russell, JD, CG®, CGLSM

7 February 2026, 10:00 a.m. MT (US)

The Colorado Chapter is excited to host Judy Russell at our next meeting for her presentation “Staying Out of Trouble—The Rights and Responsibilities of Today's Genealogists.” As genealogists and researchers, we must understand today's laws as much as yesterday's. Modern law impacts our rights as researchers-rights of access to vital records, to information, and to places where information can be found. And it impacts our responsibilities, as well, particularly the need to respect another's copyright. This presentation is open to the public. To register go to <https://coloradoapg.org/events/quarterly-meeting-feb-7-26/>.

Modern Forensic Genetic Genealogy: Tools, Challenges, and the Future of Professional Practice

Presenter: Carla Davis

24 February 2026, 8:00 p.m. ET (Doors open at 7:30 p.m. for networking)

Forensic genetic genealogy continues to evolve rapidly, requiring professional genealogists to adapt new tools, analytical methods, and investigative standards. In this session, Carla Davis will explore modern forensic genealogy workflows, real-world casework challenges, and emerging trends shaping professional practice. Participants will gain insight into how genetic data and documentary research are integrated to generate investigative leads, with discussion centered on common challenges such as low-match environments, endogamy and pedigree collapse, underrepresented population, and complex pedigree reconstruction. The session will conclude with a forward-looking discussion of trends and professional expectations shaping the future of forensic genetic genealogy.

Spring 2026 Mentorship Opportunities – Mentee Deadline Approaching

The APG Forensic SIG is pleased to announce the Spring 2026 mentoring program, with a new cohort running from 21 February through 29 May 2026. This program is open to both mentors and mentees and is designed to support professional growth, skill development, and connection within the Forensic Genealogy community.

While mentor applications have closed, mentee applications are being accepted through 3 February 2026. Whether you are looking to share your experience or deepen your knowledge, participation as either a mentor or a mentee is encouraged. The Mentor Program Committee Chair is Laura Hennessee, MLIS.

Welcome New Members!
